

RoboCam

The Robocam system uses advanced digital technology, which is guaranteed to improve the detection and prevention of crime. Robocam is a totally mobile security system comprising of a secure Home Office specification Digital Video Recorder (DVR), remote control for ease of use, highly sensitive mic & high resolution low light camera headset. We also include a custom made aluminium protective case to ensure your new purchase is kept in pristine condition.

In 1999 the unit was developed in order to save the licence of a club in the west Midlands (United Kingdom). The club had been given a final warning by the licensing authorities that if complaints about door staff and a lack of control of unruly customers continued they would close the venue down. Security professionals developed the idea of Robocam with the aim to physically show the professionalism of the staff involved and to assist the police in dealing with persistent trouble makers.

Robocam's design versatility enables it to function effectively within almost any industry or environment including:-

Police Officers, Traffic Wardens, Taxi Marshals, Site Security patrol, Nightclub Door-Supervision, Driving Instructors, Training Companies.

The design of this lightweight security equipment enables the user to record in superb quality sound and pictures any situation they encounter, regardless of the location.

This state of the art equipment is the latest tool in crime prevention and security management.

The hands free unit enables the user to have an instant record of everything they hear and see.

Robocam systems are now in use by a majority of UK Police forces as standard issue as well as a number of European Police Forces

The benefits of owning a Robocam are substantial and the applications too numerous for us to list here. But what ever your trade or status you will wonder how you ever managed without it.
